Dear Parents and Guardians

I would like to make special congratulations to Mrs Brown and Mrs Kandola and their fantastic students of L3 and L4 for reminding us at our most recent assembly how lucky we are to be living in our great country Australia. The students performed their item magnificently about the meaning behind our national anthem. What made the item even more special is that all of these students and their families are new to Australia and their happiness to be part of our community was certainly evident. We are a very lucky to have such diverse cultural backgrounds at our school which enriches our learning about others. It is certainly something to celebrate. Well done L3 and L4 for reminding us how lucky we are.

Congratulations also to all students who successfully completed swimming lessons recently at Wanneroo Aqua. It was great to see the fantastic development in student swimming skills over the two weeks. We are also very proud of the wonderful reports on student behaviour from the swimming instructors about our students. Students certainly lived up to our expectations of responsible, respectful and purposeful behaviour whilst participating in this important event.

Farm Ed Incursion
A very special thank you to Miss Smith for organising the free Farm Ed Incursion for a number of lucky classes on Wednesday. A thoroughly entertaining stage production about living in the country and farming in WA and a cuddly animal farm demonstration had everyone’s attention. Students had a wonderful opportunity to learn about the importance of farming in our lives and then get to experience patting and feeding farm animals. It was a terrific, hands on experience for the students. Thank you to Miss Smith for organising the Royal Agriculture Society of WA for this free of charge incursion.

Drone Incursion
Miss Stinson has organised a terrific opportunity for our STEM students to learn about drones. Drone pilots will be coming to our school and talking with students about the roles drones now play in our world. Drone technology and their uses is certainly developing and our students will learn more about them next Wednesday in a question and answer and drone flight demonstration. Miss Stinson has also organised for the drone pilots to conduct a demonstration for our school community after school on the oval. Drone piloting is a job of the future and we are delighted to spark student interest in this technology.

Planning for 2017
I would ask parents who are aware that they will not be attending Eddystone PS in 2017 due to their child/children enrolling in another primary school, to complete the advice slip in this newsletter. This information will provide us with a greater understanding of our projected student numbers in planning for 2017.

Lots of exciting things happening around our school at the moment. Have a great week everyone!

IMPUTED DISABILITY

The Nationally Consistent Collection of Data on School Students with Disability (NCCD) is in its third year of implementation across Australia. The goals and outcomes of the NCCD directly support the key elements of the Department’s focus on the four priority areas of the new Strategic plan, High Performance – High Care: Strategic Plan for WA Public Schools 2016-2019 including, success for all students, high quality teaching and effective leadership.

For the first time, this data collection process will provide accurate and complete information about the distribution of school students with disability throughout Australia while assisting schools to further develop their understanding of the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and implement their obligations under the Disability Standards for Education 2005 (the Standards). This is the legislation that underpins this significant work.

The annual data collection asks teachers to make informed judgements by working with other teachers to decide which students meet the broad definition of disability under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (the Act) and then use their knowledge of the students to provide information about the reasonable adjustments being made for them. In this way school leaders and teachers are working together collaboratively to develop quality teaching practices.

School teams are provided with resources and information to help them correctly identify and accurately describe the levels of adjustments they make for students to allow them to access education on the same basis as students without disability. Resources that target increasing teacher effectiveness and improving student learning are an integral component of this initiative.

Information is also available for parents and carers about the role and processes schools are using in the data collection that support the active involvement of parents/carers and the community.

Although this process is aimed at improving outcomes for all students it is your right as a parent to opt-out of this process.
